IRVINGTON MAN COMMITS SUICIDE

ACTION BEING TAKEN TO INSURE AGAINST FURTHER NILES RIOTS

More Arrests Expected As Investigation Progresses

Arraigned before Judge Allen G. Norris at the Centerville courthouse Friday, on a complaint brought by Judge J. A. Silva, Joe Ferrera, participant in October 20 riot in Niles, admitted ignorance of the law and was given a ninety-day sentence. He is to appear again before Judge Norris on February 2 for further sentence.

The charge was brought against Ferrera when Judge Silva, within his rights as a magistrate, deputized Ferrera to arrest one of the mobsters who had just struck the unconscious Dominici, beleaguered baseball umpire. Ferrera refused, insulted the judge, and showed eagerness to strike the unconscious man. According to the judge, the latter fact caused Ferrera's arrest.

According to Deputy Sheriff Hugo Radbruch, a number of other arrests are expected soon when authorities conclude investigation now under way. Radbruch further told of the proper procedure for citizens to follow in a case like the recent riot. He stated that a call should be immediately sent in to the sheriff's office, since the position of all county officers is known there. The officer on call in the district will be sent to the scene by a call from the sheriff's office. Radbruch further stated that contrary to popular belief, the local officers are not on call 365 days a year. Each officer in this district is off duty every third Sunday, and his place taken by another. It is the aim of the sheriff's office to have an officer ready for duty at an instant's notice in each township at all times.

Trost Pleads Guilty; Is Fined 25 Dollars

Pleading guilty to a charge of reckless driving before Judge J. A. Silva last Friday, C. M. Trost, salesman, stated his willingness to repair the damage he had caused to the front of Jack Alberg's store, and was fined twenty-five dollars.

Trost was taken into custody October 23, after his car had lurched out of control, and smashed into the front of Alberg's store. Trost is alleged to have been racing with another machine just before the crash. According to authorities, Trost seemed eager to repair the damage he had wrought.

RED CROSS DRIVE SLATED TO BEGIN ON NOVEMBER 11

Three Week Period To Raise Funds For Poor Relief

Realizing the necessity of helping unfortunates this winter, officials in the Red Cross membership drive in Washington township are making a preliminary plea to all citizens to sign up for their small contribution during the days of the drive, slated from November 11 to November 30.

Township officials and chairmen for the drive this year :

Township chairman, Mrs. F. T. Dusterberry; township secretary, Mrs. F. V. Jones. Chairmen for the various towns are: Mrs. Robert Vieux, Niles; Mrs. H. E. Salz, Centerville; Mrs. R. F. Pond, Irvington; Mrs. A. Amaral, Decoto; Mrs. Dora Richmond, Alvarado. Mrs. Muller, chosen as Newark chairman will be unable to serve and a substitute has not yet been named.

During the year, quietly and effectively, the Washington township Red Cross has been busy in many ways. The Livermore Veterans Hospital has received reams of writing paper and cases of matches from the local organization, and hundreds of sacks of flour and quantities of clothing have been distributed among needy families in Washington township.

The lack of a community chest in Washington township renders the Red Cross organization an invaluable one for the carrying on of relief work in the winter months. Everyone in relatively passable circumstances should feel it his duty to assist those more unfortunate than himself.

According to Red Cross officials, the amount asked of each is nominal, one dollar being all that is expected.

Centerville, last year the leading town in the township signup, employed a means of contacting everyone that was sure fire and that resulted in a full quota. A volunteer worker was stationed each day during the drive in the post office, and all who entered were asked to join. The same means will be used this year, it is said.

BODY OF PROPHERIO SOUZA FOUND TUESDAY

Despondent Because Of Domestic Trouble; Takes Own Life

Evidently despondent over domestic troubles, Propherio Souza, 31, Irvington rancher, Saturday evening entered the kitchen of his home on the Christian Hollow road south of Irvington, seated himself at the table and cut his jugular with a small knife. He is survived by his wife, Mary Souza, aged 28, with whom Souza is said to have quarreled last week.

Discovery of the body was not made until Tuesday afternoon, when Souza's father-in-law, Joseph S. Brown, noticed that the animals on the Souza place appeared to be desperate with hunger. According to Brown, Souza had come in Saturday afternoon, and had not been seen since. A brother, Frank Souza, of Turlock, arrived Sunday, and left a sack of potatoes at the door after he had received no response to his knocking. Brown, who had at first thought Souza out, became suspicious when he noticed the hungry animals Tuesday afternoon. He attempted to enter the house, but found it bolted from the inside. He then summoned Tom Silva, Centerville constable, who forced his way into the house and found Souza's body in a welter of blood. Silva immediately summoned Deputy Sheriff Hugo Radbruch and Constable O. W. Ebright and the three conducted a careful search of the house and premises for traces of another person. None were found, and the fact that Souza's money was undisturbed and the position of the body led the authorities to believe that death was by suicide. John Lowman, summoned by Silva, stated that Souza had been dead for several days.

According to reports, Souza and his wife had quarreled last Thursday, the quarrel ending with the woman leaving the house. It is said that she returned Saturday. After the two had been unable to reach an agreement, she left again, and went to the home of her parents, who live nearby. Evidently Souza decided upon suicide in the next few hours.

NILES CANYON ROAD REBUILDING DUBIOUS, SAYS STATE OFFICIAL

H. T. Duffy, Maintenance Engineer, Tells of Shrunken Fund

Hopes of the Niles Chamber of Commerce for the improvement of the Niles Canyon road in the near future were somewhat dimmed Monday, when H. T. Duffy, maintenance engineer of district 4, State Department of Public Roads, told the assemblage of reduced state funds for construction work on the new secondary roads recently taken over by the state.

Duffy, obtained as speaker through the efforts of Supervisor Ralph V. Richmond and others, told of the functioning of the highway department on the 6000 miles of secondary roads now under state control.

At the start of his talk, Duffy stated that public enthusiasm had risen in an unjustified way when it was first rumored that the state was to take over roads heretofore maintained by the counties. He said that it was evident that many communities immediately conceived the idea that all roads taken over were to be immediately rebuilt, or resurfaced and improved.

In speaking of available funds for road maintenance alone, without mentioning construction, Duffy told of the reduced revenue coming from the gasoline tax, and that the state was faced with the perplexing problem of caring for an increased road mileage with a shrunken fund.

In speaking of the Niles Canyon road the state highway official held that although the road was recognized as an important recreational and commercial artery, funds for anything other than its maintenance would not be available for several years, or at least during the present biennium. He said further that the county has given more than excellent service in Niles Canyon, improvements having been made in the last few years that would have been difficult for the state to make. Regarding the canyon bridges,, held by many to be unsound, Duffy said that state engineers have tested the structures and found them safe for legal loads. Hence, all signs limiting loads under the maximum have been removed. The Brightside bridge was discovered to be below specifications and has been raised and strengthened. The danger of a washout and serious delay of

ITINERANTS FLEE CULVERT FLOODS EARLY LAST WEEK

DEATH FROM FLOOD in Washington township is something that strains the imagination, but that is what almost occurred many times over in the heavy rain of last week.

Itinerants, in the habit of taking their nocturnal ease in various and sundry culverts throughout the region, were awakened by rumblings and gurglings as freshets, caused by the downpour, raced down dry courses.

According to Jim Freeman, itinerant, he and a companion, sleeping in a culvert near Mission San Jose, were almost drowned when a stream suddenly rushed through their impromptu bedroom. Freeman managed to struggle out, but was forced to grope his way back to rescue his companion, who, being sound asleep at the time the stream rose, was caught on a projection in the pipe. Freeman extricated him, and the two spent the rest of the night shivering over a small camp fire.

"PAGE FROM THE PAST" MEMORABLE AFFAIR FOR COUNTRY CLUB

Joseph R. Knowland Tells Group of Restoration Activities

School street in Centerville, Tuesday afternoon took on a gala appearance, and a reminiscent air as members of the Country Club arrived for the historical program at the Club house.

Of the ninety-six people who attended the affair, more than half came in historical costume, and never was there such a medley of dress. All decades, dating from before the Civil war were evident. Among those who were particularly well garbed were: Mrs. Florence Hudson, Mrs. J. E. Townsend, Mrs. Jack Williamson, Mrs. Margaret Boyer, Dorothy and Lorraine Smith, and inumerable others. By far the most outstanding historical touch of the afternoon was the departure of the "One Hoss Shay," driven by Bob Amyx, in appropriate costume, accompanied by the Misses Dorothy and Lorraine Smith. The costumed multitude gathered on the steps to wave goodbye, and a page of social history had stepped out of the past. The shay was loaned by Mrs. T. Costello.

A musical program, perfectly suited to the occasion was given. Mrs. J. E. Thane gave a brief historical sketch of music and chorals in the township, then introduced Mrs. Margaret Boyer, who sang three selections, among them was, "When You and I Were Young." Mrs. Boyer's clear mezzo soprano voice was suited

Going to the Gallows Drunk!

Filling up Egan, the murderer, with Rolph whisky the hour before his execution runs true to the present executive's high morals and statesmanship.

But, after all, why not? We have Farley, Roosevelt's man Friday, running into the southern states urging the voters to repeal the Eighteenth amendment. The whisky business must be the biggest thing in America. To be able to drink legal liquor that makes fiends of saints, paupers of frugal men, widows of good women, and orphans of little children, seems from all indications to be the main thought of Washington and Oshkosh. A little while ago we were told that if we only had beer back, it would pep up business, and make the wheels of industry hum. The revenue, we were assured, would fill the depleted exchequers of the states and lower taxes. It was a cure-all, the first remedy pulled off the cupboard shelf by the national administration.

Well, we got our legal beer back. Now times are not better, but possibly worse! By and by we will have our whisky back and our saloon. Of course a more modern name will apply. The word saloon has a bad flavor. In the old days the grog shop disgraced its name, and brought humiliation upon all who secretly wished to defend an institution they so liberally patronized. So tomorrow we will call the booze joint a "College Inn." That is a nice name. It has been tried out. Over in 'Frisco they have one of those places with that name. Very high toned, you know. Was there not long ago. Young girls drunk, sitting in sailor boys laps. There was music to keep papa from coming home early. That's the way it was in the old days, only our wives and daughters were left out of the picture. Naturally there were some low dives where girls stood up to the bar with their pretty little feet on the rail, but those women claimed no distinction socially nor made any claim to respectability. They did not sing in the church choir on Sunday and ply their trade week-days. They did not, by drinking whisky, made the business anymore respectable. Contrarily, they made it less so.

But you are now living under the "New Deal."

According to the present morals and standards of political philosophy, why criticise the ridiculous Rolph. He is a connoisseur of good liquor, and the murderer Egan doubtless got the strongest stuff from the executive sideboard.

All done in sympathy, says the play-boy at Sacramento. Queer, isn't it, that Rolph's manifestations of sympathy are all for the criminal and tough. For the murdered citizens and their orphaned children, or the victims of robbers and extortionists, no tear is shed!

Banking Act Gives Banks New Problem

Washington.—Passage of the Glass-Steagall banking law—the banking act of 1933—has produced a condition among depositors in banks which was not forecast during debate on the bill in congress. The law prohibits payment of interest by banks on balances held by depositors in their checking accounts which are designated as demand deposits. But interest can be paid on time deposits which necessarily are left for stated periods. So passage of the law has caused a lot of people to switch part of the money they have in their checking accounts to the accounts where they can get interest on the funds. The banks are worried as to how they will readjust their practices to meet this sudden condition, according to the treasury. It is nothing serious insofar as the safety of banks is concerned, but banks try to keep the money invested and the necessity of keeping it invested is much greater when it is left with the bank as a time deposit, for the interest rate always has been higher.

GEOGRAPHY LESSON IN PASSING MOTORS

History and Romance Seen in License Plates.

Washington.—During the vacation season the motorist takes to the open road, carrying on his car a label that proclaims the region which he calls home.

Forty-nine different American automobile plates are familiar to those who live along trunk highways or in large cities today, and occasionally the alert bystander may see tags from several Canadian provinces, Mexican states, Cuba, and even from such distant places as Hawaii, the Canal Zone, and the Philippines.

"In the passing parade of metal tags there is a good deal of geography, and some history and romance," says a National Geographic society bulletin. "Primarily a mark of identification, the motor license plate has become in some states, a peripatetic billboard bearing keystones, diamonds, stars, slogans, and other devices to advertise unusual features or products of certain regions.

"South Carolina's license plate, across the bottom of which is inscribed: 'The Iodine Products State,' is perhaps the most familiar tag exploiting a particular feature of a state. Even the name of the state is relegated to initials (S. C.) in order to advertise to the world the high iodine-content said to be found in South Carolina's vegetables and fruits.

Boosts Natural Resources.

"Arizona goes the southern state one better in advancing natural resource. To indicate that Arizona is a leading copper-producing state, and also to aid in the disposal, in a small way, of the enormous stock of the metal held in the United States, Arizona has a license plate made entirely of copper.

"Several license plates bear emblems of the states which issue them. Pennsylvania's, for instance, has a tiny keystone in each upper corner. Texas, 'the Lone Star State,' shows a star between the numerals in the center of the plate. Delaware carries a diamond design because Thomas Jefferson, while discussing the thirteen American colonies, once referred to Delaware as the diamond of thirteen gems.

"The pelican on Louisiana plates is the symbol of this southern state. It appears on both the license tags and on the state seal.

"There is no need to ask a Kentucky motorist what part of the state he is from. A motor tag of 'the Blue Grass State' bears the full name of the county in which it was issued, as well as the state, year and registration number. New Jersey indicates counties by a serial letter preceding the number.

"In a few states, Virginia among them, municipalities require a second license plate, which is usually affixed above the state tags. North Carolina has an ingenious scheme to prevent the transfer of license plates from cars of one weight to those of another. Passenger vehicles are divided into three groups according to weight, the price of the license increasing for heavier cars. Each of these classes is indicated on the plate by a tiny numeral (1, 2, or 3) between the large numbers in the center of the plate.

"Mississippi has another means of preventing the transfer, theft, or misuse of license plates. Its tags cannot be removed without destroying a strip across the top bearing the date and class identification. Washington state designates the class of a vehicle by a small letter in the upper left hand corner.

An Outline of Montana.

"Montana's license plate is distinctive because the numerals and name are surrounded by an outline shaped like the state's boundaries. New Mexico tags bear an arrangement of lines and a circle that looks like a symbolic sunburst, a fitting design for a region with but few cloudy days. Florida, Oklahoma, Mississippi, and Alabama cars carry only one license tag in place of two required in other states. The single tag is placed on the rear of the car.

"Although at one time color schemes varied widely, in recent years they have been nearly standardized. A combination of black and yellow (or orange) is now used by ten states and the District of Columbia, the numerals and background alternating in color each year. While this is not a particularly attractive color scheme, tests have shown that these two shades have high visibility. White and blue combinations are employed by eight states; black and white by seven; and white and green by six.

"Minnesota has the odd combination of black on aluminum this year. Texas chose the colors of Texas university, orange and white, for passenger cars, and the colors of Texas A. & M. college, white and maroon, for commercial vehicles, in 1933."

Man's Job "Snap"—Turns Off Lights

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Clarence P. Craig, fifty-four, turner-off of lights in downtown store show windows, has a job that is almost a perpetual "snap." For 16 years he has made nightly rounds to an average of 300 stores, accumulating a total of approximately 1,700,000 twists of light switches to the "off" position. During Craig's long years on the job he has walked an estimated 350,400 miles around town, wearing the soles off a pair of shoes each two months.

The benefit whist given by the Niles Y. L. I. last Thursday night at the Odd Fellows' Hall, Niles, was an outstanding success, according to committeemen this week.

Approximately fifty-five tables of whist played throughout the evening, with more than 250 people attending. Delicious refreshments were served at the affair, which members of the organization aver was financially satisfying.

Under the direction of Katherine Periera, of Oakland, chairman, the following committeemen made preparation for the evening: Laura Mayer, Eloise Silva, Adeline Fontes (president), Gertrude Enos, Hazel Mendoza, Florence Cunha. The committee was assisted by other members.

FIRST RAIN ENDS BREEDING SEASON FOR MOSQUITOES

According to the engineers' report for the month of October, the Alameda County Abatement district has completed a great deal of work designed to make abatement work dring the winter and next spring much more effective.

A recent increase in the number of mosquitos in the southern part of the county, especially near Nowark yas traced to the flooding of duck ponds in preparation for the season.

On October 2, the outlet flume to the main slough from south marsh near Alvarado was completed. Next spring the south marsh will be drained quickly, thus insuring against mosquito breeding in the first warm weaher.

Heavy rains of October 29 flushed out the sewer catch basins, the creeks and storm sewers, and thus for practical purposes has terminated the 1933 mosquito breeding season.

FREAK ACCIDENT INJURIES G. DAVIS NEAR IRVINGTON

Falling Derrick Upright Strikes Worker Tuesday

Victim of a freak accident, arising frim even more freakish circumstances, George Davis, of Irvington, is this week in a critical condition in a bay region hospital.

David was struck with a falling derrick pole, as he and A. Muniz were raising a horse and culivator from a deep hole on Dr. E. M. Grimmer's ranch near Irvington Tuesday. Noticing that the derrick was beginning to fall, Davis ran from the spot, but unluckily ran in the wrong direction. Struck by the heavy timber, Davis suffered a fractured pelvis, shoulder bruises and possible fracture of the skull.

According to reports, the horse and cultivator came to be in the hole through a series of unusual circumstances, to-wit: About two years ago Dr. Grimmer hired a laborer, whose name is not available, to fill up an old pit on his ranch. Evidently finding the task of shoveling enough dirt to fill the excavation very tiresome the laborer hit upon the scheme, it is said, of boarding off the pit about four feet down and filling dirt in on the boards. With the job obviously finished the laborer went on his way. Holding up for about two years, the flimsy cover is said to have collapsed Tuesday as Bill Vargas, cultivating in the field, drove his horse over it, much to Vargas' consternation horse and cultivator plunged from sight. Davis and Muniz were summoned with their derrick to pull the animal out. The accident occurred just after.

DEMOCRATIC CLUB PLANS FUTURE ACTIVITIES

Voicing enthusiasm for plans being made for activity in the near future, the Democratic Club of Washington township met at the Parish hall, Centerville, Monday evening. The meet was in the nature of a discussion of party trends and activities.

Principal speaker was Edward Kremheller, of 888 Forty-fifth street, Oakland, who delivered an interesting talk on party appointees in the state. He told the assemblage of appointments being made in the Eighth Congressional district. Telling of a huge merger of democratic clubs in the San Francisco bay region, Kremheller revealed plans for a mammoth rally and dinner slated for the Lemington Hotel in the near future.

One of the high spots of the evening was a reading by Mrs. N. F. Myers, talented local poetess, who read her symbolic poem "Let the Eagle Scream." The piece is a well cast and timely tribute to President Roosevelt. Mrs. Myers also read a letter from Mrs. Roosevelt. Following the reading, Mrs. Myers addressed the group on the organization of democratic women, and their value as voters.

HUSKERS ANNIHILATE LIVERMORE 41-0 TO TAKE CHAMPIONSHIP

Muniz and F. Mederios Star In One-Sided Football Game

Aided by the flashing feet of a little halfback named Al. Muniz, and the driving power of Frank Mederios, the Washington Union High School Cornhuskers, coached by Jess Regli, came into their own after several disheartening years and Friday took the championship of the Southern Alameda County Athletic League when they vanquished the ivermore Cowboys by the mountainous score of 41 to 0.

At no time during the game did Livermore threaten the Huskers' goal line and in midfield almost every Livermore play came to grief in the powerful arms of the Husker line. Red Sinclaire, Dinsmor, Manuel, George Mederios and Phippen looked like college linesmen Friday, as any Livermore halfback will aver.

Working the ball to the Livermore one-yard line the Huskers were robbed of a first period score by the gun, but came back in the second quarter and shot battering Frank Mederios over in one play. Mederios' educated toe added the extra point. Livermore chose to receive, and was forced to punt from deep in their own territory. The Huskers mached to the 16-yard line on sheer power, then Al Muniz faded back and rifled a bullet pass to Ralph Brown, who was downed on the two-yard line. Power House Frank Mederios ripped through for the score, and added the extra point with a kick from placement. With the score 14-0, the Huskers eased up a bit, and the half ended without further tallying.

Coming back in the second half the Huskers got busy immediately with a flat pass from Muniz to George Mederios good for fifteen yards and a score. The kick went wide. A few minutes after the kickoff, Frank Mederios (who was plenty good all afternoon) found a hole over tackle and raced through the Cowboys for thirty yards. He was dragged down on the fouryard line as the gun ending the third quarter barked.

The game from that point on changed from an exhibition of Mederios' power to a pageant of Muniz's flashiness. Muniz wriggled over tackle for the touchdown, and Mederios converted. Livermore received and booted out from deep in their own territory and the Huskers were once more touchdown-bound. Al Muniz, on a flash over center, cut back beautifully, whirled through the Livermore secondary and crossed the goal line without a hand having touched him. A few minutes later Muniz ghosted over tackle from the six-yard line and scoring was over for the day. Final score: Centerville, 41; Livermore, 0; and bedlam broke loose as jubilant Husker supporters gave vent to their joy. Two years ago the Huskers tied the Cowboys 6 all. Last year the game was a scoreless deadlock, and this year a great team played heads-up ball to win the chapionship.

DECOTO MERCHANTS BOW TO FORDS 10 TO 5

Under the steady arm of Cooper, who pitched steller ball, and with the sensational fielding and hitting of "Coonie" Dondero, the Hodkins Fords Sunday triumphed over the Decoto Merchants by a score of 10 o 5 at the Decoto grounds.

Particularly impressive was the Ford win when McKenzie, Pete Roe and Travis are all benched with injuries and illness.

Santiago, Decoto pitcher, hurled fine ball but his backing was erratic. Next Sundoy the Fords play the Hayward Athletes at Newark.

to the room, and her pieces were exquisite. Mrs. Anna Haley played a number of old pieces on the piano. Her playing was a highlight.

After a brief introductory speech by Mrs. J. R. Whipple, Joseph R. Knowland, main speaker for the afternoon, addressed the club on California History and Landmarks. Knowland, long active in the restoration of California landmarks, is perhaps one of the best qualified men in the state to tell of California history. He mentioned the difficulties encountered by the Native sons and other restoration groups in the present era and stated that private ownership of many historical places made restoration almost impossible. Knowland told of efforts to at least mark the places where historical buildings had stood. Accompanying Knowland was his son the Hon. J. Knowland, assemblyman from this district.

Toward the close of the afternoon tea was served by Mrs. J. E. Thane and Mrs. F. Hudson, from tea sets hundreds of years old.

Arrangements for the day were made by the Music and Program committees. Both committees also formed the reception group. Members of the group were: Mrs. George Coit, Mrs. R. Bendel, Mrs. J. C. Shinn, Mrs. J. E. Townsend, Mrs. Hugh Kibby and Mrs. E. D. Bristow

AMAZING NEW TIRE
3 times safer—no extra cost

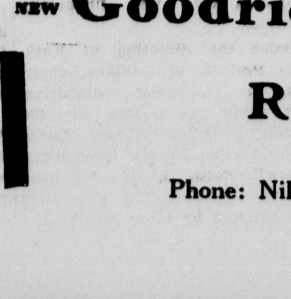

WHEN your car travels 40, 50 and 60—mile after mile—terrific heat is generated inside the tire. Rubber and fabric separate. A blister forms—and grows—until BANG! A blow-out! And the drag pulls your car off the road.

The Life-Saver Golden Ply, an amazing new feature of Goodrich Safety Silvertowns, resists intense heat. Rubber and fabric don't separate. Thus blisters don't form. Blow-outs are prevented by overcoming their cause.

At gruelling speeds on the world's fastest track, the new Goodrich Silvertown, with the Life-Saver Golden Ply, lasted three times as long as first quality tires that did not have this feature. These SILVERTOWNS never blew . . . for the Life-Saver Golden Ply refused to give. Proved themselves 3 times safer from blow-outs at high speeds.

And that isn't all. Tests with leading makes of tires prove that Goodrich Safety Silvertowns have the most skid-resisting tread on the road.

Let us show you this safest tire ever built—now three times safer from blow-outs. The new Goodrich Silvertowns cost no more than other standard tires . . . so this blow-out protection is FREE!

WATER DISTRICT WILL BENEFIT FROM RAISING OF O'SHAUGHNESSY DAM

By CHRIS RUNCKEL

O'Shaugnessy dam in the Hetch Hetchy is to be raised eighty-five feet. This is one result of the bond issues carried in the election in San Francisco Tuesday. This is also mighty good news for Alameda County Water District.

Raising the present dam eighty-five feet will increase the storage capacity from sixty-six billion gallons to 106 billion gallons. This increased amount will enable San Francisco to run its occasion power plant all the year round. This will also enable the city to run water into the Dom Pedro dam further down the Tuolumne all the year around. The latter dam belongs to the Modesto and Turlock irrigation districts and the increased supply of water will also enable them to develop more power which they can sell at a profit for their districts. San Francisco is not only assuring the future water supply of these districts but it is also helping them to a greater income from their power development. Of course the irrigationists should be happy over having a big, new water supply provided for them without cost to them. It is no wonder these districts are willing to withdraw their opposition to San Francisco. The few adventurers left who hope to squeeze money out of San Francisco by law suits will find themselves out of luck.

Now what does all this mean to Alameda County Water District? Just this: It settles that contention which the old Spring Valley Water Compay helped the San Joaquin Valley farmers to get into the Raker Act in 1913 which made the bill say that San Francisco must first develop the local supply before it drew on the Hetch Hetchy. This contention has been greatly touted by San Francisco's enemies. Now that San Francisco is going to raise the O'Shaugnessy dam to its full height about twenty-five years before it was thought it could be done and so furnish the irrigationists with all the water they need, this old bugaboo has received its quietus. Beginning next March San Francisco will begin to use the Hetch Hetchy water. Its first unit will bring in sixty million gallons a day. This is ten million more than San Francisco is now consuming. So for some time until the consumption catches up the city will be storing the surplus Hetch Hetchy water coming to its system in the reservoirs in San Metao county. It will no longer have to depend upon the Calaveras supply and it will no longer need to build any more dams in the Alameda Creek watershed. It will from now on be cheaper to develop other dam sites in the Hetch Hetchy watershed where the flood water supply is greater and more dependable. San Francisco will be free to take on the peninsula comunities and San Jose in its domestic water supply system without using the Calaveras supply for that purpose.

And so we come to Alameda County Water District. It has already been suggested that instead of getting only one year's release water each spring that San Francisco advance several years release as soon as the Calaveras surplus becomes available for the purpose of restoring the water table to the district. If this is done the danger of salt infiltration will be avoided and the cost of pumping for irrigation will be decreased. Whenever future conditions permit the district can repay San Francisco for the water thus advanced just as the district loaned water to the city and was repaid several years after.

And there is something better than even this in prospect but we will tell about that in another article.

All I can say now is "Hats off to San Francisco."

MORE ON NILES CANYON ROAD

traffic in mid-winter has been eliminated.

In answer to questions asked concerning rumors that the state had made some plan for the re-routing of the main highway over Vallejo street and from there along the hill front to Overacker, Duffy stated that the board realized the need for elimination of the many grade crossings south of the town of Niles, but to date had made no plans nor set aside any funds for work on the project.

Following Duffy's talk, Burnett Hamilton, new county surveyor was introduced, and told the chamber of his pleasure in attending the meeting. He stated that his office would as far as possible, cooperate with the southern part of the county.

At the beginning of the meet, F. V. Jones lauded Bristow and the Pet parade, and called upon Bristow to tell of the Boy Scout Fund Drive. Bristow made a few brief remarks, asking all present to back the campaign.

Other guests at the meet were, Harold F. Grey, Mosquito Abatement Head and Roland Bendel.

DEADLINE NEAR IN SCOUT FUND DRIVE; NILES BELOW QUOTA

Drive Chairmen Express Hopes for Success In Campaign

With the deadline approaching for donations toward the Boy Scout fund in Washington township, E. Dixon Bristow, local chairman, intimates that an intensive effort will have to be made to swing Niles over the top, in order that the stipulated quota may be reached before the drive is closed.

Donations from the town of Niles, expected to mount above the $250 mark, have fallen somewhat short, drive officials said early this week. F. V. Jones, chairman of the drive locally last year, Monday told the Niles Chamber of Commerce of the necessity of the fund, and stated his trust in the town. It is the hope of Bristow, the Niles chamber, and everyone, that Niles "goes over the top."

In a time of stress and uncertainty, the value of scouting to the younger boys is increased a hundredfold. Free time after school hours, spent in odd jobs and regular work in times of prosperity, would be empty hours for boys in these times without the interest and steadying effect of scouting.

Designed to employ those things that interest a growing boy most, scouting at the same time instills the fundamentals of citizenship and clean living. Of all juvenile institutions in the United States today, the Boy Scouts of America, should receive the jealous support of all classes, industries and individuals.

Run on a basis of astounding economy, the scout organization only occaionally asks the financial support of citizens at large. It is then that the enthusiasm of everyone may be manifested through the medium of donations.
